

Camping Spots in California

California is a beautiful place surrounded with beaches, overwhelming mountains and picturesque deserts. It offers a broad range of camping spots that our entire family can enjoy. Right from Lakes named Big Bear present in the Southern part of California to County Parks named Big Lagoon. There is a list of Camping spots in California where each and every family can travel.

Firstly if one desires to camp in the mountains in the Southern part of California then he needs to move towards a lake named The Big Bear. This is generally done during the winters to enjoy skiing activities. One can easily arrange for a cabin or throw a tent. Here campers participate in several activities like horse riding, fishing, hiking, biking and kayaking. There is a National forest nearby surrounding the lake. There are plenty of different kind of fishes, bass and trout. This area was previously inhabited by bears but now it is not unnatural also to spot animals like bears black in colour, lions, snakes and raccoons.

Pismo Beach is one of the best camping spots in California in the coastal region. It is situated in the central part of California. This area also offers wide variety of activities like hunting, fishing, horse-riding and swimming. There is a beautiful white coloured beach lined with trees is absolutely stunning where couples and families can enjoy. Areas like Oceano and beaches on the North are inlands just following the sandbanks- anyone can walk towards the shore. Tents are permitted here.

Next camping spot is a park named The Big Basin. This is located north to the Creek rock and this is one of the oldest parks of California. It spreads over 18000 acres of land and probably called the Redwood forest. This area is marked with magnificent waterfalls and abundant valleys. There are campgrounds where 146 campsites are available in the Big Basin area. Campgrounds provide facilities like drinking water, showers and restrooms. Campsites present there have fire rings and a picnic tables. Campsites are provided mainly for raising tents but hook-ups are not available.

Another camping spot is a park named D. L. Bliss that is situated on the western shore of Lake Tahoe. The D. L. Bliss park has campsites alongside the beach that people die for. If one gets atleast one camp spot then also it is not bad. This campground provides warm showers along with spacious areas. One who knows swimming well can easily swim to a beach named Lester, next to rock balancing and finally discover the remarkable lighthouse.

Finally comes a county park "The Big Lagoon". This is a very secure lagoon just adjacent to the Pacific Ocean. This county park is marked with salty water rich in trout, shorebirds and otters. Here people mostly enjoy water activities like swimming, sailing, boating, etc. The Big Lagoon is a picnic site, watching the whales and enjoying days and weeks in sun. These campsites also have tables, toilets but no arrangement of showers.

These are the few best camping spots in California where one enjoy and entertain himself.
